

WeatherGuard Home Solutions Ltd
557 Valley Road, Nottingham, NG5 1JE
+44 (0)800 677 1050
info@weatherguardhome.co.uk
www.weatherguardhome.co.uk

What is RubberCover EPDM membrane?

RubberCover EPDM is a 100% cured single-ply roofing membrane made of a synthetic rubber Ethylene-Propylene-Diene Terpolymer. Since 1980, more than 1.000.000.000 m² of EPDM membranes have been successfully installed on commercial, industrial and residential roofs worldwide.

A multitude of uses:

RubberCover is a an ideal, high performing roofing system for a variety of flat roofing application:

- Residential roofs and/or extensions
- Terraces
- Garden sheds
- Verandas
- Garages
- Carports
- Gutters
- Dormers

Easy to install.
No flame. No trouble.

RubberCover EPDM Roofing Systems offer a unique combination of features and benefits:

- Superior durability
- Seamless sheets in 1 piece
- Very low life-cycle cost
- Flame-free and easy installation
- High flexibility and elongation
- Environmentally friendly
- Recovery of rainwater
- Fire resistance

FAQ's

Does RubberCover EPDM membrane require a protective top coat?

No, the RubberCover EPDM membrane is resistant to UV and ozone.

How long will RubberCover EPDM membrane last?

RubberCover EPDM membranes offer unmatched resistance to UV radiation, ozone, alkaline rains and high or low temperatures. Recent studies show that the membrane has a life expectancy of more than 50 years, even when exposed to sunlight.

Is maintenance required?

No specific maintenance is required for a RubberCover EPDM roofing system. However, WeatherGuard recommend a yearly inspection of the roof.

Can certain materials damage RubberCover EPDM?

The membrane is less resistant to oil products. Contact with mineral and vegetable oils, petroleum based products, fresh bitumen and grease must be avoided.

How can RubberCover EPDM be repaired in case of damage?

The membrane can be easily repaired with a piece of RubberCover QuickSeam SA Flashing.

10 year material warranty

WeatherGuard Home Solutions Ltd
557 Valley Road, Nottingham, NG5 1JE
+44 (0)800 677 1050

info@weatherguardhome.co.uk
www.weatherguardhome.co.uk

